He wired the particulars to Superintendent Blickensderfer. Later the tramps, or beats, as the railroad boys call them, threatened to kill the conductor and to burn the bridge across American Falls. A deputy sheriff was dispatched from Pocatello to apprehend the tramp desperadoes. The officer did not arrive until after an attempt had been made to burn the bridge, which was thwarted, however, by citizens of the Falls. Learning of the whereabouts of the offenders, the deputy sheriff proceeded, alone, to arrest his men. He found them and ordered them to throw up their hands. They immediately went down for their guns, whereupon the officer dropped one and the other weakened. The officer's shot was a nailer, and the big desperado never squawked after being hit. Beware of Beatty the Organ Man-

A lady in the West sent to us an account against Daniel F. Beatty, who at Washington Now Land and Wash at Washington, New Jersey, advertises to make and sell organs and pianos. About one year ago she sent to him $400 for a piano. He acknowledged the receipt of the cash, but declines to ship the article or return the money. We have heard several such complaints of late, and advise all persons not to send money to that concern and at the same time ask the 6,000 newspaper editors to whom this paper is sent to add Daniel F. Beatty to their list of persons it is unsafe to deal with. Letters to Mr. Beatty on this subject bring no response, and the distance the robbed lady is from his place of business makes it, under the circumstances, impossible for her to appear and bring suit for the recovery of the money .- [U.
